RUSHVILLE GIRLS WIN TWO OFFICES

Miss Frances Frazee is Elected
Grand President and Miss Alma
Green Grand Secretary.

BY PSI IOTA XI SORORITY

Bloomington Gets 1916 National Convention—to Admit no More
High School Girls.

Two Rushville girls were given the two most important offices at the annual election late yesterday afternoon of the national convention of the Psi Iota Xi sorority.

Miss Frances Frazee was chosen
grand president and Miss Alma Green was elected grand secretary. The convention also voted not to accept any more high school girls as members. There is a stringent law in Indiana against high school pupils belonging to secret societies and the sorority decided to co-operate with the school officials by making it impossible for high school girls to join.

The convention will close tonight
with a ball at the Social Club. A progressive luncheon was given today at the homes of Miss Alleine
Budd, Miss Louise Mauzy and Miss Ruth Innis, followed by an automobile ride.

Other officers elected at the business session yesterday afternoon
were: Miss Maudelin Williamson, of Muncie, vice-president; Miss Alleine
Albough, of Kokomo, treasurer; Miss Katherine Houk, of Dayton, O.,
conductress; Miss Phyllis Whitehead, of Columbus, Ohio, nemesis; Miss Mary Marr, of Columbus, Ind., inspector.

The next national convention of the sorority will be held at Bloomington, Indiana, it was decided just before the end of the last session
late yesterday afternoon.

In addition to the amendment
passed yesterday afternoon providing that no more high school girls
should be elected members, another
amendment was voted on favorably
which makes it a rule of the sorority
that every member who is attending
high school shall resign by September 1. This changes the standing of Psi Iota Xi so that it can no longer
be termed a high school sorority. It is said this ruling was made because
several college sororities have decided not to admit girls who are members of high school fraternities.

The convention voted to create a scholarship fund. Each chapter will be required to raise its share, the minimum to be fifteen dollars. Some worthy girl will be selected and will
be offered the privilege of borrowing
money from the fund at a nominal
rate of interest to get a college education, with the additional agreement that she shall pay it back with-
in a given length of time. The girl
thus benefited does not have to be a member of the sorority.

Miss Frances Frazee, president of the Rushville chapter, gave the welcoming address to the delegates and
visitors, and Miss Mary Marr of Columbus responded on behalf of the visitors, praising the Rushville
chapter for its efforts to make the national convention a notable one.

The reports of the chapters were heard. Especially commending itself was the report of the Newcastle
chapter. Last year, their report
showed a total of $1,083 was raised
and spent. The Psi Iota Xi girls
maintained a visiting nurse at Newcastle and are managing the Redpath chautauqua this summer.

The sorority flower was changed
from the white carnation to the Mrs.
Aaron Ward rose. Memorials to three girls who died during the year
were read.

KERN WANTS ON THE BENCH

Indiana Senator is Candidate For a Federal Judgeship.

(By United Press.)

Washington, June 25.—Senator
John W. Kern of Indiana is a candidate for appointment as judge of the federal circuit court of appeals. He seeks the place left vacant by Judge Grosbeck's retirement about two years ago. The fact became known today through Senator J. Hamilton
Lewis' present in Washington to promote Kern's candidacy.

FORGER IS HELD TO GRAND JURY

Hubert H. Wilson, Who Was Caught
Here, is Bound Over in Con-
nersville on $500 Bond.

CHECK SIGNED BY HANKINS

Hubert H. Wilson, of Muncie, who
was caught here at the Big Four
station by the Connersville police
Wednesday evening on a charge of forgery, was bound over to the Fayette county grand jury yesterday afternoon under $500 bond.

Wilson presented a check for thirty dollars at the Fayette National bank. The check was signed with the name of John S. Hankins, former mayor of Connersville. The name
was thought to be a forgery, but as Walter Lambert identified Wilson
the bank paid the money. Wilson owed Lambert money for a taxicab
bill. Upon investigation the check was discovered to be a forgery and
the police started out after Wilson.
He took a traction car for Rushville
and the police pursued in an auto.
They arrived at the Big Four station
just in time to catch their man as he was boarding the train.

MULE RACE MAY BE STAGED AT THE FAIR

Secretary Hopes to Have Representatives of Churches One Day
and Lodges Next Day.

LAWYERS MAY ENTER ALSO

J. Q. Thomas, secretary of the Rush County Fair Association, is arranging for a mule race at the fair
this year. He plans for the churches, lodges and lawyers to be entered in
the race. The program is for representatives of the churches to race
one day, representatives of the
lodges another day and the lawyers
another. Then on the last day of the fair, it is proposed, the winners
in the first three events would contest for the mule championship. The rules of the contest, if it is staged,
will provide that the mules be driven
and that whips will be allowed.

Prospects for the fair are very bright. Every day requests for information are received from concessions. It is generally agreed that the race program this year will be the best ever held at the Rush county fair because of the stake races.

TO CALL MEETING FOR RUSHVILLE END NEXT WEEK

Chamber of Commerce Committee on Automobile Routes Purposes to Get Recognition.

FOR THE "SCENIC ROUTE"

It is Planned to Mark the Road With Sign Boards and Get it in Automobile Guides.

The Chamber of Commerce committee on automobile routes met last night at the Catholic parsonage with the Rev. M. W. Lyons and decided to start a campaign to get the route
from Indianapolis to Cincinnati passing through here, and by way of Andersonville and Brookville, recognized by publishers of automobile
route guides.

The committee decided to call a meeting for Rushville next Friday,
to which representatives from Brookville and Andersonville, and
other towns between here and Cincinnati, as well as from all towns
between here and Indianapolis, will be invited.

It is the purpose of the committee
to mark the route with sign boards
so that tourists, once the road is placed in the automobile guide books
will have no difficulty in locating the way.

The committee is the same as that which was appointed at the Brookville meeting last month to get the Dixie highway through Rushville.
When President S. L. Trabue, of the Chamber of Commerce, appointed
committees for the year, he made it
a standing committee on automobile
routes, believing that, with the constant agitation that is now nationwide in its scope, there would often
be something for the consideration
of such a committee. The members
are A. L. Stewart, chairman, R. G.
Budd, the Rev. M. W. Lyons, Theodore Reed and Dr. F. G. Hackleman.

One of the purposes of the meeting here next Friday is to learn the attitude of the people living along
the road to the project, and if it is favorable, to ask them to pay more attention to the road and see that it is kept in condition.

This is one of the good things that is resulted from the general agitation
to locate automobile routes. It is invariably the rule that renewed interest is taken in good roads because
one of the means whereby automobile routes are won is to guarantee
that the road will be kept up.

Attention has been called before
to the fact that the standard automobile guides have not given recognition to the route from Indianapolis to Cincinnati which veers off to
the southeast from here and goes
through Brookville and Harrison,
Ohio. The automobile guides show
the route here by way of Conners-
ville. But several miles can be cut off and the roads are just as good
by taking the scenic route down the Whitewater valley.

It is believed that recognition for
the road can be gained if the proper representations are made to the publishers of the leading automobile
guides. Once the best place the road
in their guide, then the smaller ones
will take it up and it will become an established thoroughfare.

Sufficient proof that the valley
route to Cincinnati is the best one
from Indianapolis is found in the fact that the Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction company, after an extensive investigation in which engineers took repeated surveys, selected the route by way of this city,
Brookville and Harrison, Ohio, for
the extension of its lines to Cincinnati.

In this connection, it might be

Great Activity Because Term Will Close For Summer Vacation
And Not Open Until Sept.

MORTGAGE IS FORECLOSED

Davis And Jones Millinery Store Will Probably be Sold as a Result
Other Court News

The present term of court will close next Wednesday, according to present plans, and as a result there has been considerable activity in court circles to get the business
closed before the summer vacation.
The September term will open the first Monday in September.

Judge Sparks this morning found for Jefferson C. Davis against Lelah Davis and ordered the mortgage on the Davis and Jones Millinery store foreclosed. The judgment was for $421.26. It is expected the store will be sold to satisfy the mortgage.

The City of Rushville will appeal
the case against Louis Heyneman, alleged to have violated the peddler's ordinance. The appeal bond was fixed at $100 and was given. The case will be taken to the appellate court and thirty days were given in which to file a bill of exceptions.

Arvel R. Herkless was given judgment for $71.71 against William P.
Stanley and Molly Stanley and an improvement lien was ordered foreclosed. The suit was the result of the failure of the defendants to pay assessments on a sidewalk improvements were paid and then the balance was not. In order to get his money Herkless sued.

The case of the Farmers Trust company against Claude Walker on notes, demanding $1,250, was sent to Hancock county on a change of venue and five days given in which to perfect the change. The motion for a change of venue was filed by the defendant.

A partition was ordered in the suit
of Goldie Harlow, Will Adams and Claude Adams against Oral Adams, Hazel Adams, Florence Adams, and Clara Adams. The land was ordered sold and Lewis M. Sexton appointed commissioner. His bond was placed at $20,000.

The petition of Margaret A. Wyrick, administratrix of the estate of William Wyrick, deceased, to sell real estate to pay debts, was granted and the land ordered sold.

SUIT FOR RECEIVER FILED

Farmers Trust Company Brings Action Against Claude Walker

The Farmers Trust company has filed suit against Claude Walker on
a note, demanding $1,750 and asking
for a receiver. Kiplinger and Smith represent the plaintiff and the defendant Walker entered an appearance by Chauncey Duncan. It is alleged in the complaint that the note for $1,500 is past due and that Walker has transferred some of his property to his wife, Bertha Walker,
to prevent the plaintiff from getting
the money due on the note. It is also alleged that he is threatening
to assign additional property for the purpose of cheating the plaintiff and that a receiver should be appointed. The hearing on the re-ceivership is not set until September 6.

tended the funeral of a relative.

AIRSHIP SINKS SUBMARINE

First Time in History of World This Feat is Accomplished.

(By United Press.)

Berlin, June 25.—For the first time in history an aeroplane has sunk a submarine. German airmen bombarded a Russian submarine in the Baltic near Getland islands on May

ment was not known until today
when positive advices reached the German war office from Petrograd
that the submarine had been sunk.

TO CLEAR WHITE'S NAME TO THE WORLD

Deputy Attorney General Says he Will Prove Man Harry Thaw Killed Was Not Beast.

POSTPONEMENT IS DENIED

(By United Press.)

New York, June 25.—The name of Stanford White will stand clean before all the world before the present Thaw trial is concluded, declared Deputy Attorney General Cook at the opening of the trial today.

"I am prepared to prove," said Cook, "that White never was the beast which Evelyn Nesbit Thaw painted him. I am prepared to prove that she played Thaw against White for financial gain. Almost a decade of vilifying, his name will be clean
when this trial ends."

"To do this," he declared, "Evelyn's life from the time she left her Pittsburg home as a girl of thirteen years for the night life of Broadway
will be bared."

That Thaw's attorneys have asked the state's lawyers for a postponement of the present trial until fall became known today. Thaw wished to be released on bail in order to take a trip to the Panama-Pacific but the state would not consider the proposal.

sheriff did not serve the papers and the man died two hours later.

Six of the defendants were today still unaccounted for. It is believed their identity is in question.

PRELIMINARY DRAFT IS MADE

Germany Will Accept Suggestion of President Wilson to Mediate
With British

TO MODIFY THEIR METHODS

Indication That Germany Was Mis-
informed in Contention Lusitania Was Armed

BY CARL W. ACKERMAN

(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

(Copyright 1915 by United Press)
Berlin, (Via The Hague,) June
25.—The preliminary draft of the German reply to the second American note subject to change, I am authoritatively informed contains the following representations:

First, that Germany is fighting for the freedom of the seas, but does
not desire in any way to jeopardize
the interest of neutrals.

Second, an expression of the appreciation of the friendship existing between Germany and the United States.

Third, acceptance of President Wilson's suggestion of a willingness
to mediate between Germany and Great Britain to obtain a modification of the British blockade in return for the modification of Germany's methods of submarine warfare.

Fourth, an indication that Germany probably was misinformed in her contentions that the Lusitania
was armed.

Fifth, an indication that Germany
is willing to negotiate with America
along the lines laid down by President Wilson in his humanity plea
without entirely giving up submarine
war on enemy merchantmen which
many regard as Germany's most effective sea weapon.

Sixth, an indication that any compromise to which Germany may
agree regarding belligerent ships
must secure to Germany the safety
of her submarines from their attacks. In this connection the death
of Commander Otto Weddigen and
the crew of the U-29, who are alleged to have lost their lives when
a British tank steamer flying the Swedish flag rammed the submarine,
probably will be cited.

The German reply in all probability will be completed by the end
of next week.

—Mrs. B. Johnson of Richmond
passed through here this morning,
enroute for a visit in Summan.

The Old and the New

"Hello, here's the manufacturer's advertising in our news-

"That means business for me.
I must get the goods in the window and put the cash register in order.

"Nothing like newspaper advertising to start the customers coming."

CALM AFTER THE STORM IS FELT

United States Deputy Marshalls Believe They Have Paid For Rest After Federal Trial.

THOSE WERE STRENUOUS DAYS

Six Others to be Arraigned in November on Charges Similiar to Those Already Tried

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, June 25.—Following an unusually heavy siege, incident to the trial of the Terre Haute conspirators and other trials, the office of the United States marshal at the Federal building here is comparatively calm once more. "And haven't we paid for this rest in advance?" asked Deputy Marshal Wilson today.

When court convenes for the fall term the first Tuesday in November chief interest will center in two trials, the dates for which probably will be set on that day. These are the trials of Roy Shattuck and his five companions, indicted on charges very similar to those which placed Mayor Roberts and his political co-workers in Leavenworth prison, and the trial of Mike-the-Pike Reitter, the alleged white slaver of Chicago who is charged with having violated the Mann act in regard to placing a foreign-born girl in a Gary bawdy house.

Wilson explained that in case Judge Anderson saw fit these cases might be tried before time for the regular opening of court in November. He said the judge would return from the east the latter part of September of the first of October and could then order the cases tried at any time.

Shattuck was the unsuccessful Republican opponent of Ralph W. Moss for congressman representing the fifth Indiana district. Those indicted with him were Republican candidates for county offices in Vigo.

Heitler with the picturesque name was once overlord of the Chicago red-light district. His operations between Gary and Chicago have been frequent, but he has seldom been arrested. All of the men named are out on bond.

THOUGHT SHE COULD NOT LIVE

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Unionville, Mo.—"I suffered from a female trouble and I got so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor without holding on to something. I had nervous spells and my fingers would cramp and my face would draw, and I could not speak, nor sleep to do any good, had no appetite, and everyone thought I would not live."

Some one advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had taken so much medicine and my doctor said he could do me no good so I told my husband he might get me a bottle and I would try it. By the time I had taken it I felt better. I continued its use, and now I am well and strong.

"I have always recommended your medicine ever since I was so wonderfully benefited by it and I hope this letter will be the means of saving some other poor woman from suffering."—Mrs. MARTHA SEAVEY, Box 1144, Unionville, Missouri.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as that above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

RUSHVILLE GIRLS WIN TWO OFFICES

Progressive Luncheon.

The progressive luncheon this afternoon was one of the most enjoyable functions in connection with the convention. The first two courses were served on the lawn at the home of Miss Alleine Budd and the third course was served in the home of Miss Louise Mauzy adjoining that of Miss Budd. The interior of the Mauzy home was decorated most appropriately with flowers and the colors of the sorority were carried out in the general scheme.

The program was given at the home of Miss Ruth Innis, adjoining that of Miss Mauzy. Miss Jeanese Sumption of Kokomo, and Miss Madelin Williamson of Muncie sang solos, and Miss Louise Mason of Columbus gave a piano number. Miss Norma Smith and Miss Mary Louise Craige of this city sang a duet and Miss Frances Frazee gave a reading. Miss Jeanet Lindsey of Marion presented a toe dance in gypsy costume. The whole program was immensely appreciated. Miss Innis' home was decorated most tastefully for the occasion.

After the program a convention picture was taken on the lawn of the Innis home. This was followed by an automobile ride about the city.

Banquet Last Night.

The banquet last night at seven-thirty o'clock was served in five courses. It was different from the usual banquet because the toast list was dispensed with and the banqueters were entertained with a cabaret during and after the banquet.

Denning Havens and Miss Mary Louise Poe, Kathleen Hogsett and Mary Louise Bliss, accompanied by Miss Martha Hogsett on the piano, gave the program. There were several costume numbers and all of the girls sang solos. Miss Poe and Denning Havens danced. Little Alice Slaughter of Chicago presented two dances, one in a clown costume and another in a marine carnation costume.

The tables were arranged in the dining room of the Social club so that they all faced the opening into the dance hall where the stage stood. It was arranged with yellow and white background and beautiful lighting effects were used by the entertainers. Flowers were used to fine advantage in decorating the dining room.

BLUNDERS ARE ASTONISHING

Study of "War Revenue Tax" Reveals Some of Worst Mistakes of Present Administration.

FAILED ON ALL ESSENTIALS

Lawmakers Floundered Repeatedly in Determining Where Burden of Tax Should.

Washington 25.—A study of the "war revenue tax" discloses some of most astonishing blunders to be found in the entire legislative record of the present administration. The most elementary principles of law making seem to have been disregarded.

In the passage of any special tax measure where the approximate deficit to be met is known, there are four simple requirements that are obvious:

1. It should be determined where the burden of the tax should fall.
2. Based on accurate estimates, the law should produce the amount of revenue needed.
3. The law should be phrased in clear unmistakable terms, admitting of but one construction that will insure a minimum cost of administration, prevent confusion, and avoid unless, expensive litigation.
4. Timely, adequate provision should be made for revenue stamps, blank returns, instructions, and all other numerous details entering into the enforcement of such a law.

This administration failed on every one of these counts.

1. Under the first essential, that of determining where the burden of the tax shall fall, the Democrats floundered repeatedly. They first announced the plan of increasing the income tax, and abandoned it on discovering that financial returns would be delayed for months under that method. Then they turned to a plan of taxing freight receipts. This was discarded with astonishing celerity. Political pressure was too great. After other ineffectual attempts the Spanish war stamp tax was adopted as a basis, giving the country a "war tax" in time of peace.

2. The second essential was disregarded. Their estimates were inaccurate. Had they been based on facts instead of guess work, we would not now have the treasury deficit as a constant reminder of Democratic extravagance and inefficiency.

3. The third essential was disregarded. There are conflicting provisions in the "war tax" as to when it shall take effect. Other clauses are so obscurely phrased that it has been necessary to appeal to the courts for construction.

4. The fourth essential was disregarded. So inadequate were the provisions for stamps required under the act that business all over the country halted because of inability to comply with the law. Long and annoying controversies arose over penalties for such violations, resulting in needless confusion for which no one but the present administration is to blame.

Not Consistent

The Secretary of the Treasury is reported as prophesying that the returns from the income tax will considerably exceed the eighty odd millions of dollars estimated for the fiscal year 1915, and he is looking for a marked reduction in the pending treasury deficit by reason thereof. How such a prophecy can consistently be made in the face of the fact that there were 18,280 failures in 1914; that capital invested in new enterprises was less by over $600,000,000 in 1914 than in 1913; that railroad gross earnings declined 4.4 per cent; that steel mills were until very recently reduced to 40 per cent of capacity; that 30 per cent of the looms of our woolen mills were idle December first, and capital amounting to $41,000,000 invested in cotton mills was unproductive, with prices falling off 30 per cent; and that dividends in almost every industry in the land have been either materially reduced, or passed over entirely, it is difficult to understand, unless the substitution of "trained accountants peculiarly fitted to handle the books of corporations subject to the tax" (and possessing such qualifications as do not fit them for civil service) for those unfortunate agents whose great fault was that they "failed to accomplish the desired results only because there was no material from which to get results in the work given them," carries with it an inquisitorial method of tax collection. Letters from the commissioner of Internal Revenue have been sent to a great many agents asking them to resign that more favorites may take their places. Evidently the Commissioner believes that "by their fruits ye shall know them."

The Parker (Kansas) Message believes that a general business depression still exists in some parts of the country, departmental democratic campaign publicity bureaus to the contrary notwithstanding. The Message reports straggling detachments of the great army of the unemployed in that vicinity, twenty-five or thirty of whom stopped in Parker for a handout recently.

Doubtless they had gotten into touch with the government labor employment bureau, organized by order of President Wilson to find employment for men who had formerly worked in industries closed down by Democratic hard times. This is the bureau that denies that any appreciable amount of unemployment exists at the same time that it seeks to put men in touch with jobs in the furthest corners of the country, "no transportation advanced."

Wilson declined to speak at Philadelphia on the Fourth of July because, he says, "this is perhaps the very time when I would not care to arouse the sentiment of patriotism." It is only a few hours' journey from Washington to Philadelphia, but Wilson would not travel that far "to arouse the sentiment of patriotism," on the Nation's birthday. Yet he jumped all the way to Indianapolis on Jackson Day to arouse the partisan sentiment of Democrats.

After getting into power on a promise to reduce the high cost of living, the Democratic administration finds itself forced to publish statistics it has collected proving that retail prices in 1914 were, on an average, 2 per cent higher than in 1913. Everybody knew that prices were higher and many people will be ready to believe that 2 per cent increase is a low estimate. Even a 2 per cent increase means much to those American workmen who lost their jobs because a Democratic tariff threw our markets open to the products of workmen in Europe and Asia.

mentioned that the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce has received a letter from the manager of the Marion Association of Commerce asking the local organization's cooperation in diverting travel from Cincinnati over a road passing through Knightstown, Anderson, Alexandria, Marion, Wabash, North Manchester, Warsaw, Milford, Goshen and Elkhart, where it would connect with the Lincoln highway, the first stretch of which was dedicated not many days ago. The manager of the Marion association suggests that this road be used to connect the national road at Greensburg with the Lincoln Highway at Elkhart. He has erred in that one respect because the national road does not pass through Greensburg, but through Knightstown. A meeting is to be called at Marion soon. The letter from Marion says that the road from here to Elkhart, which is almost a straight line on the map, is ninety per cent macadam and is good at all seasons of the year.

HOOSIER HISTORY

(Prepared by the United Press from Records in the State Library)

Railroads doomed the prosperity of the Wabash-Erie canal as steam transportation was more rapid. The state debt became so large and continual repairs had taken so much money that the state was not able to borrow funds for its maintenance.

The canal was put into the hands of the Morris Canal and Banking Company, which completed a branch canal to Evansville, in 1853. This branch was soon abandoned because of the rapid development of railroads. The remainder of the history of canals in Indiana is mostly one of failure, losses and finally abandonment.

Health--How to Preserve It
Disease--How to Prevent ItPrepared for the United Press by Dr. J. N. Hurty
State Health Commissioner

Typhoid Fever

To eradicate typhoid fever from the state of Indiana, or any other state, it is only necessary for all of the people all of the time to dispose of all their sewerage in a sanitary way. This is true because typhoid fever comes out of human sewage.

Our refusal to practice sanitary disposal results in the death of 1,000 people annually in Indiana, and cases of typhoid fever in 20,000 others. Of the 20,000 that have the disease and recover, 5,000 will die of consumption. This is because while they are convalescing and weak, their digestion is poor and the air they breathe is bad and they then take on the infection of consumption.

These are sufficient illustrations to show that every man is the architect of his own sickness and disease. But a few more illustrations may be good. There is a class of diseases which are termed degenerative diseases. They are kidney troubles, heart troubles, hardening of arteries and various kinds and forms of insanity and certain other diseases of the vital organs. The vital statistics show that deaths from arteriosclerosis, the common name of which is hardening of the arteries, are increasing. Cancer is another degenerate disease that is increasing. All of our search has failed to discover the origin of cancer, but the cause or causes which bring hardening of the arteries are pretty well known.

Arteriosclerosis can be prevented by more rational nutrition of the body and rational exercise. This disease is unknown to the peasants of Europe who live upon a simple diet and work in the open air. Cancer is also unknown to the peasant class.

CLASSIC RACING
DUEL HELD TODAY

Sons of Eli and John Harvard Meet on Thames in Annual Water Event to Gain Supremacy.

BLUE IS FAVORED SLIGHTLY

Yale and Harvard Crews Have Rowed Forty-Eight Times and the Honors Are Even.

BY BARRY FARIS.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)
New London, Conn., June 25.—The Sons of Eli and John Harvard renew their classic racing duel today on the Thames river. After weeks of preparation and months of training the crews of Yale and Harvard are ready for the heart-breaking, gruelling water race.

Past performances of the two crews this season indicate that they rate among the best that ever represented the two institutions. Both are admittedly superior to the crews that rowed almost a dead heat last spring.

The Blue is favored slightly. This is due to the shape its crew was in at the finish of its victory over the Cornell eight a few weeks ago. Both Harvard and Yale defeated the Ithacans. Eli's athletes, when they shot by the finish line, were breathing easy and appeared as fresh as when they started. Harvard's crew was badly spent, however, and were forced to the limit to down Cornell.

With another race in sight and between two such crews as these are, one of the biggest crowds that ever lined the banks of the Thames was present today. The exodus from New York and scores of cities and towns throughout the East where former sons of Yale and Harvard live began yesterday. They were arriving here, all yesterday afternoon, all last night and still today. Hotel accommodations were impossible to get today, everything having been taken. Many reservations had been in for weeks.

Yale and Harvard have met on the water forty-eight times and each has to its credit twenty-four victories.

Their first meeting was in 1852 on Lake Winnepesaukee over a two mile course and Harvard won.

Last year's race was one of the most exciting ever held. The two shells shot across the finish line almost at the same fraction of a second. It was minutes before the official winner was known.

The stroke men on this year's crew are declared to be the equal of any who ever represented either school. Harvard is the most fortunate in having a man who has stroked nine winning crews, in little less than a year. Lund last spring set the pace for the crew that defeated the midshipmen, the Yale second crew took two races at the Henley regatta at Philadelphia and three more at the Grand Challenge at Henley in England. He also was stroke the spring when the Crimson crew won from Annapolis and Cornell this spring. Morse, Yale's stroke, is a wonderful athlete and fairly teeming with fight and pluck. He has never negotiated the four mile distance but Yale followers are certain he will turn the trick without any trouble.

The Blue's followers were given a fright a couple of weeks ago when the Yale squad was stricken with ptomaine poisoning at training quarters at Gales Ferry. Coach Guy Nickalls sent a rush order for a platoon of doctors at the first sign of trouble. The physicians arrived promptly and by efficient treatment had the crew restored to good health without the loss of a day's training. True, the athletes' work was cut down for a few days but Nickalls kept them doing just enough to stay "on edge." Nickalls, quick action is credited with saving his crew from a layoff of several days at least. At such a time a layoff would have been fatal to the Blue's chances of winning.

The two crews, as they have been rowing for the past week, and as they probably will face the starter today are as follows:

Yale: Bow, Coe; No. 2, Bennett; No. 3, Lowe; No. 4, Sheldon; No. 5, Captain Sturtevant; No. 6, Meyer; No. 7, Winman; Stroke, Morse; coxswain, McLean.

Harvard: Bow, Captain Murray; No. 2, Morgan; No. 3, Stebbins; No. 4, Harwood; No. 5, Mittendorf; No. 6, Parson; No. 7, Cabot; Stroke, Lund.

—Mrs. E. C. Mahle of Connersville was here this morning, enroute to attend the funeral of Mrs. Overleese in Milroy.

SERVICE

Of the three essentials—strength, organization and service—afforded to clients of this Bank, SERVICE is not the least important.

The Bank's entire organization is permeated with the spirit of service. It is not enough to accept and safeguard the banking and trust business of clients; every effort is put forth to be of additional active service, within the Bank's proper sphere.

For example, the Bank, if appointed custodian of securities, will as agent sign ownership certificates required by the Federal Income Tax Law, collect dividends and coupons promptly as they mature, and either credit or remit the proceeds to the client; and will promptly notify him should any "rights" or other subscription privileges attach to the securities held.

Another example, clients are welcome to the Bank's facilities for investment and for investigating and analyzing the value of securities.

Many other examples of special service to clients might be mentioned, all of which would help to explain the rapid and substantial growth of this Bank's business.

HOME BIDS WILL BE OPENED SOON

Masonic Grand Lodge of Indiana Will Erect a Fine Structure to Cost
About $200,000.

PLANS ARE ALL COMPLETED

Home Will be For Aged Masons,
Their Wives and Widows and Orphans of Members of Order.

Bids will be called for on June 26 for the construction of the Indiana Masonic Home to be erected at Franklin, Ind., under the direction of the Indiana Grand Lodge of Masonry at a cost of approximately $200,000. Herbert Foltz, architect, has announced that he has completed the plans for the home and that work on the six structures of the home will be started as soon as the contracts are awarded.

The home will consist of a main administration building and five smaller structures. The administration building will house the offices and the headquarters of the home and the assembly hall. Separate cottages will be erected as dormitories for boys and girls. The other structures will be a hospital, a service building and a power house. The service building will contain the laundry, the bakery and the cold storage plant.

The buildings will be constructed of brick and stone and will be of the colonial type. The structures will be two stories high with the exception of the service building and the power house. The home will be erected on a 223-acre tract of land on the southern outskirts of Franklin. Sixty acres of the tract are in the corporate limits of the town. According to Calvin W. Prather, secretary of the Indiana Grand Lodge, the home is to be ready for occupancy next spring.

The home is for aged Masons, their wives and widows and orphans of members of the order. Special quarters will be provided for guests of the home who have their wives with them. The members of the building committee of the Indiana Grand Lodge who have directed the plans for the erection of the home are: Dr. Olin E. Holloway of Knightstown, L. D. Cravens of Hammond, James W. Dunbar of New Albany, Thomas J. Lindley of Jeffersonville, Richard Schweitzer of Knightstown, Frank E. Gavin and Calvin W. Prather of Indianapolis.

QUAKERS PLAN TO TRIM RUSHERS

Richmond Claims Rushville is Weak
on Hitting and Can See Nothing
But a Win.

THEY HAVE SOME SLUGGERS

Admit However That Earl Hewitt
May Cause Them Some Worry
—Leake Pitching.

The Richmond team of the Indiana State league is fully expecting to win over the Rushers in the game here Sunday. They have several ways of figuring just how and why they should win. One of these reasons is that the Richmond team is the best hitting team in the league and the Rushers the weakest. It is true the Rushville team is not hitting the ball but the team is expected to begin connecting pretty soon.

At Rushville Sunday, Richmond plans to win, although going against Pitcher Hewitt, the Rushers' star moundsman. The hitting strength of the Richmond club is the best in the Indiana State League. This much, Hewitt will have against him. And that much Al Leake will have in his favor. More than this, the Rushville club is the weakest hitting club in the league which is that much more in Al's favor.

McCann, Hampton, Popkins, Schrimper, Cushing, Bulla, Wallace, are pretty fair stick wielders. The official averages of the players when published will show that these are the boys that are keeping the Richmond club at the top of the hitters. Tough luck, errors and breaks for the visitors have been losing games for the Quakers. And the Rushers get to take them on at a mighty disastrous time—for the Rushers.

Things are liable to happen at the Rush county seat Sunday. It may be that Luke Snyder will find his batting eye at Edgewater park. He certainly is due and it is a cinch he will find it some day—soon. With Luke hitting, Curley in the lineup at third, Dony Fisher or Schrimper in the outfield with Wallace and Bulla, those base hits are liable to shower around Mr. Hewitt Sunday until he will be unable to "hew-out."

And the breaks of the game are bound to come favorable for the Quakers sometime soon too and then they will begin to make some showing. No alibi is intended for the two games on the other column to balance with those two in the lost column and Sunday's game at Rushville is the first one that is to be switched over into the won column.

Hats Will Not Cover Multitude of Sins In Hair Dressing Now

BY MARGARET MASON
(Written for United Press.)

There's nothing secretive in Fashion That's really quite plain to be seen. She now is so very transparent. She's even exposing her bean In hats that are made of illusion. For frocks of the same she is keen, In lingerie blouses and mantles All made of illusion she's seen. And so in paradox manner Results of all chance are bereft, Because she's so wrapped in illusion No illusions about her are left.

New York, June 25.—Hats won't cover a multitude of sins in the hair-dressing line anymore. You've got to have a good "do" on your hair nowadays because the very smartest chapeaux can easily be seen through. There are two popular forms of the transparent hats—the one a simple straight flat brim composed of two layers of maline stretched smoothly over the wire frame—the other has the brim composed of a wide floppy ruffle of maline, double thickness, with occasional wires radiating from the crown to keep the ruffle from going altogether.

While transparent crowns of the same maline are very good, the latest effect is to have a velvet crown in the midst of the gauzy brim. The open face hats are most stunning in all black with a single yellow or pink rose as the only adornment but all white hats or delicate pinks and blues are also most fetching with sheer summer frocks and most summer frocks are all that let me tell you.

Organdie so thin and exquisite of weave and texture that Queen Mab herself might well be pleased to don it is the material de lux for summer frocks and blouses. In all delicate tints, either plain or strewn with Pompadour garlands it is the quintessence of feminine loveliness. The all white organdie is ideal for lingerie gowns and blouses particularly as by a new triumph of the weavers art it now washes like a dream and rises as beautiful and supreme from the wash as Venus from the wave.

cuffs, the many quaint fichus and kerchiefs that now adorn the Victoriano toilettes organdie has no adequate rival. It has only one defect it is so very sheer that it leaves absolutely nothing to the imagination. This is a defect, however, that pertains to but certain cases.

Indeed the admonition to "keep your shirt on" might easily be offered by a short sighted person to a organdie bloused lady. The more natural conjecture would doubtless be, however, that she didn't have any on to keep. These organdie blouses doubtless rely on their revealing powers for sufficient charm for they almost altogether eschew lace or other embellishment and save for a few tiny hand tucks or embroidery are strictly plain and tailor made.

There's nothing peek-a-boo about these 1915 models rather should they be dubbed the long-and-linger-ing-look waists.

Of course, stockings have to put their foot in it and get in the non-concealing class also by dropping a stitch or two in the most nonchalant manner with open work clocks and open work strips and other open work motifs too numerous to enumerate. As it is only natural for stockings to go to extremes since that's what they are made for their swift transition from these open work gauze effects for dress and dance occasions to cashmere and all wool creations for sport wear is not to be wondered at. Rather than wear woolen hosiery my lady Dainty yesterday would rather have suffered a thousand ills but today she flaunts them in the face of the multitude on the links, the tennis court or at the steering wheel. They come in all the bright plain colors or white and colored stripes and checks. The black and white pin check models are perhaps the most popular to match up the many coats and suits of shepherds plaid.

Can it be that she will jump as nimbly from her chiffon chemise into woolen lingerie?

Records of deaths in that county for the past six years show that of the 841 death from all causes, 202, or practically twenty-five per cent, were caused by tuberculosis.

In view of the fact that the average for the United States is ten per cent, and for the state is eleven and one-half per cent, the abnormal percentage that prevails in Crawford county must indicate some unusual condition or combination of circumstances, W. D. Thurber, the chief of the new department believes.

The co-operation of the Crawford County Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, and the county and town health officers is already promised the department and public spirited citizens throughout the county will be asked to assist in the investigation.

CAR COMPANY HEAD KNOCKS JITNEYS

MAYOR WANTS NEW ROUTES

(By United Press.)

Evansville, Ind., June 25.—"Jitneys will run on the pavement we lay." So said Manager Blinn of the street car company when asked by Mayor Bosse to improve Fulton avenue.

"Why don't the jitneys make new routes where there are no car lines instead of stealing the street car company's business," the mayor said today.

"After I get the street car company to improve its service the jitneys come along and take their business."

"I had hoped that the jitneys would establish schedules on routes where there are no cars and thereby do a real public service."

BELGIANS MAKE SERIOUS CHARGE

Three Who Escaped Recently Say Germans Have Hoodwinked Neutrals Regarding Prisoners.

METHOD OF CARING FOR THEM

Given Most Revolting Tasks to Perform and Often Are Brutally Assaulted, They Say.

BY WILBUR S. FORREST.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

London, June 11: (By Mail to New York)—That the German authorities have hoodwinked the various neutral commissions that have made generally favorable reports on the treatment and feeding of prisoners of war in Germany is charged by three Belgian non-commissioned officers who recently escaped from the prison camp of Bergenhus.

Questioned singly and then together by the Belgian minister at Copenhagen, their stories, which have been forwarded to the Belgian legation in London, coincided. All agreed that conditions in the larger prison camps, such as Parchim, where they were first confined, are considerably better than those in the smaller camps, the former being under the command of superior officers. Though the rules in the larger camps are severe, they are applied with more or less equality and there is not so much arbitrary infliction or excessive toil or ill-treatment, such as prevail in the camps like Bergenhus which are under the command of sub-officers of the reserves or territorials, who run them according to their own whims and without the necessity of reporting their own violations of the rules.

"In these camps English and Russian prisoners are treated incomparably worse than the French and Belgians," said the escaped Belgians. "They are given the most revolting tasks to perform and often brutally assaulted. Parcels for all prisoners are opened, delayed, and pilfered, in spite of the rule that they should be opened in the presence of the recipients. The medical service is lamentably insufficient, prisoners not even being examined until after they have been ill for many days. Even then no rest from work is allowed except in grave cases. The only reply to complaints is, 'You didn't come here to be ill or to rest, but to work! The prisoners have to pay for medicines themselves, and the lot of those unable to do so is frightful."

"Both the quantity and the quality of food have been lowered in the past three months. At Bergenhus the rations were: Morning—bowl of a brew called coffee and a morsel of black bread three inches square and one and a half thick. This bread, a less than 200 grammes, has to last all day; Midday—soup, made of water, mostly quite inedible, and some beetroot; Evening—beetroot only. Vegetables, preserves and especially meat are only distributed in special circumstances and in infinitesimal portions. Rarely, some bones from the meat used at the table of the guard are dipped in the prisoners' soup. The waste from the German troops' kitchen is sold on contract to feed the pigs of the countryside. The Belgians at Bergenhus one day complained of the soup, whereupon the commandant replied 'I know this soup is not fit to give to pigs—but you'll eat it all the same.'

"Commissions of the Red Cross and the neutral states have expressed themselves as being generally satisfied with the nourishment of the prisoners because they have been completely hoodwinked. For instance, when the Swedish mission visited Gustrow they were shown the kitchens where the meals were being prepared, not for the prisoners as they believed, but for the guards. At the canteens the prices charged prisoners are far beyond market prices, while the non-commissioned officers of the German guard pay nothing."

"Only a strong constitution can enable a man to emerge with his health from one of these camps. Some Belgians have already died of hunger."

CONFERENCE OF WORKERS OPENS

Home Problem Methods of Teaching Agriculture and Home Economics
Much in Evidence.

MEETING STARTS AT PURDUE

Many Specialists in Both Lines Speak to Large Gathering of School Teachers.

The two days' conference of workers in agriculture and home economics education for superintendents, teachers and supervisors, opened at Purdue University Thursday. The second annual meeting of the Indiana Agricultural Teachers' Association will be held in connection with the conference.

The central theme "Home Problem Methods of Teaching Agriculture and Home Economics" was much in evidence throughout the entire conference. Prof. George L. Roberts, dean of the University summer school, gave the address of welcome. He explained the purpose of the conference and the good that would come by bringing agricultural and home economics workers together each year. He pointed out that one feature that will make for the success of such a conference is the address by outside speakers.

Prof. Z. M. Smith, supervisor of agriculture in Indiana, addressed the conference on "Pre-Vocational and Vocational Agriculture." He explained the state law and defined pre-vocational and vocational work. Every teacher must teach pre-vocational agriculture in the schools of the state. Prof. Smith compared the vocational law of Indiana with the New Jersey, New York and Massachusetts. Indiana has 8,000 teachers who are engaged in teaching pre-vocational agriculture and of the remaining 7000, over 1000 are doing work in consolidated township schools, the rest are working in the one-room school house. Prof. Smith urged that every child in the state complete the public school work. The state report of Indiana shows that thousands of children are taking pre-vocational work and 141 are taking vocational courses. Vocational work is taught in special schools that are set up for specific work.

Prof. W. H. French, of the agricultural education department, Michigan Agricultural College, addressed the conference on "Community Work in Agriculture Through the Public Schools." Michigan has 7000 one-room schools in the state. There is no state vocational law in Michigan as in Indiana, but have state normal training schools that are worked on the same basis. Next year Michigan expects to have 100 high schools that will give pre-vocational work, mostly nature study, and home and rural betterment. If we are to maintain our American standard of education we must give our children the broadest education possible. The purpose of the school should fix the American standards. Practical work and practical education are the keynote of success.

Pres. W. E. Stone, of Purdue University opened the afternoon session with a short address on "Vocational Education—Its Meaning and Its Purpose." He said that there are about eighteen schools in the state that are giving direct vocational work. He pointed out that the vocational system should not be considered as a substitute for the regular educational system of the state, but should help to keep those boys and girls in school that otherwise would not attend the public school after a certain age.

"Home Economics Problems in the Schools," was discussed by Mrs. Henrietta W. Calvin, home economics specialist, U. S. department of education. Mrs. Calvin was formerly on the faculty of Purdue University. She presented four problems that should receive due consideration, namely: first, how to teach home economics; second, when should it be taught; third, to whom should it be taught and fourth, the teacher. In the sixth, seventh and eighth grade, the girl should have reached a stage where she could manage the home economics work with ease. The ideal way to teach home economics is in the home.

Miss Grace King, head of the home economics department of Hanover College, spoke on "Work of County Supervisors of Home Economics work in St. Joseph county, and in her talk she gave some very interesting details of her work in this county. Miss Lella R. Gaddis, of the home economics department of Purdue University, talked on "Home Economics Work in the Schools of Indiana." Miss Gaddis has been doing work in the schools for the past year and has been helping to direct the work. Indiana schools have well organized home economics work and the school girls are receiving great benefits from the courses offered.

"Beautifying the Country Side," was the subject presented by C. B. Durham, horticultural division of the extension department, at the evening session. This was an illustrated lecture. Many views showing good and bad work in country, were flashed on the screen. Too many attempts at country beautification have proved a failure, and Dr. Durham pointed out the remedies.

The feature of the evening session was the address on "Club and Home Project Work," by Prof. G. I. Christie, superintendent of agricultural extension. This type of educational work has been placed on a firm foundation in the state and the girls and boys take great pride in their accomplishments. Boys acre corn clubs, pig clubs, potato clubs, girls tomato clubs, canning clubs and sewing clubs can be found in all sections of the state, all which make a bigger and better Agriculture for Indiana.

Genuine Prescription For All Rheumatism

One That Does Cure or Money Back, Says Johnson's Drug Store.

Rheuma—that is the name of the scientific prescription that is putting old rheumatism out of business.

Rheuma cures by driving the uric acid from the blood. It also acts directly on the kidneys and is better for them than most so-called kidney cures.

Porter Smith, Dobbin, W. Va., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from rheumatism for about 26 years. The disease had become chronic. I began taking Rheuma with little faith in its virtues, but was better from the first day I began its use, and at this time have no more pains."

Johnson's Drug Store and all druggists sell Rheuma, and no rheumatic sufferer can afford not to use it. 50 cents a bottle. Your money back if not satisfied.

IS BOOKKEEPER AT REFORMATORY

Orville Hodson, Convicted Check Forger, Making Good Behind Prison Walls at Jeffersonville

GOOD JOB OF REFORMING

Separated From Dope And Cigarettes His Hands Are Steady And His Health Better

Jeffersonville, Ind., June 25.—With a hand trained to forge checks Orville Hodson is making an excellent bookkeeper in the tailoring department of the state reformatory here. His books are neat and his work is exact and painstaking.

Having been separated from his dope and cigarettes Hodson's hands are steady which makes for neatness. His skin smoother and his health better. All-in-all, the state reformatory is doing a real job of reforming in the case of this youthful prodigy who had all the officers in the state stepping sideways trying to catch him for three years.

Hodson's mind is clearer, too, and the strange fits of jealousy that used to seize him are less frequent. But for the uniform it would be hard to detect that Orville is one of the 1241 inmates. He would never be taken for a criminal.

Authorities here have different theories concerning this change in the boy of 22. Some say it is because he cannot get his dope while others place all the credit to the spirit within the state institution. One thing is agreed, it is a good indication that Hodson is clinging to his resolve to leave the reformatory at the earliest opportunity, and it is good indication that he intends to rejoin his wife and live an upright life. Hodson was sent here from the Clinton county court. He had forged several checks for large amounts and in seeking to escape capture had travelled from coast to coast and into Mexico. He was captured in Pittsburg after a gunfight. He had robbed a druggist, his employer.

U. S. IS ASSURED TRADE JUSTICE

British Note Tells of Efforts to Lessen Inconvenience to Commerce of Neutrals.

OWING TO JOHN BULL POLICY

Document Declares Citizens Here Can Not Complain of Treatment of Their Cargoes.

Washington, June 25.—Great Britain, in a memorandum transmitted to the United States and made public here and in London, recites at length its efforts to minimize inconvenience to neutral commerce resulting from the order in council against trade with Germany, Austria and Turkey, and asserts that American citizens have no just grounds for complaint on account of the treatment accorded their cargoes.

No attempt is made to answer the principles asserted in the American note of March 1 protesting against the orders in council and insisting upon the right of neutrals to carry on legitimate commerce with each other and to trade in noncontraband with civilians in belligerent countries. In transmitting the memorandum, Ambassador Page said it was "merely an explanation of concrete cases and the regulations under which they are dealt with."

Another note to Great Britain is now in course of preparation at the State Department and is expected to be dispatched as soon as the negotiations with Germany over submarine warfare have been cleared up. While this communication probably will make reference to the latest memorandum, it is understood that the manner of enforcing the orders in council will not be treated as relevant to the question at issue—whether there is any warrant in international law for the powers that Great Britain and its allies have assumed to exercise over the commerce of the world.

In its memorandum the Foreign Office emphasizes the "various special concessions made in favor of United States citizens," in setting forth that all British officials have acted in every case "with the utmost dispatch consistent with the object in view, and of showing in every case such consideration for neutrals as might be compatible with the object, namely, to prevent vessels from carrying goods for or coming from the enemy's territory."

Arrangements for buying American cotton detained and for permitting the passage of goods bought in Germany by Americans before the date of the order in council are outlined and the promise made that consideration will be given to special cases of this kind in the future.

According to a summary of ships detained there are now twenty-seven vessels which cleared from the United States now held in ports of the United Kingdom. Of these eight are said to be unloading cotton which Great Britain has agreed to purchase, seven will be allowed to depart as soon as items of their cargoes placed in a prize court have been discharged and the other twelve—three of them American ships—are the subject of investigations not yet completed.

EARLY HISTORY IN 5 VOLUMES

Historical Commission Has Work Nearly Completed—Getting Ready For Celebration

MANY INTERESTING STORIES

Will Give in Detail Work of the Framers of Indiana's Organic Law And Constitution

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, June 25.—Five publications of rare historical and documentary value regarding Indiana's early history are to be edited and soon will be circulated by the Indiana Historical Commission. At a recent meeting of the commission it was found that at this early date the commission had enough material to set the wheels going which will end in the celebration of Indiana's centennial next year.

The governor's messages before the present constitution adopted in 1853 will be published as the first of the series.

"Constitution Making in Indiana," will detail the work of the framers of Indiana's organic law. Many reminiscences and interesting stories concerning the early constitutional days will be a part of the book.

"Indiana as Portrayed by Early Travelers," will be a collection of incidents and appreciation of those who came to Indiana in the early days. New Harmony, Vincennes, and Salem were the communities most often touched by travelers on their way to the West.

"Party Platforms before 1850," the material for which is being compiled by the Indiana Department of History and Archives, in the fourth of the publications to be issued.

"Indian Treaties and Land Grants" will be an interesting work which will consider the events during the Indian occupation of the state and accounts of treaties made by the early settlers to the redskins.

These books will be placed on the market at a nominal price.

To co-operate with the commission fourteen advisory committee chairmen were selected. Those chosen were: Educational—Miss Charity Dye, Indianapolis; Music, E. D. Birge, Indianapolis; Art and Architecture—Mrs. M. F. Johnson, Richmond; Medicine, Dr. G. W. H. Kemper, Muncie; Public Health and Hygiene, Dr. J. N. Hurty, Indianapolis; Agricultural, Prof. G. I. Christie, Purdue University; Manufacture, Commerce and Trade, Theodore Thieme, Fort Wayne; Speakers Bureau, Lew O'Bannon, Corydon; Pageantry, Will O. Bates, Indianapolis; Medals and Badges, C. W. Moores, Indianapolis; Indiana Writers, Meredith Nicholson, Indianapolis; Charities and Corrections, A. W. Butler, Indianapolis; and Home Coming, George Ade, Brook.

Herbert S. Houston, first cousin of Wade and Ed Sherman and Mrs. J. M. Harrold of this city, who has frequently visited here, was elected president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World at the closing session of the annual convention at Chicago yesterday afternoon. Mr. Houston is a member of Doubleday, Page and company and is vice-president of the corporation. There were 10,000 delegates at the recent convention.

In "The Daily Newspaper," a paper printed each day of the convention, there appears a picture of Mr. Houston, who was mentioned as the leading candidate for president before the election. A brief history of his career is given. He has had long experience in newspaper work, first taking up news and editorial writing. Mr. Houston was born in Champaign, Ill., and worked on western newspapers until his health broke down and twenty years ago he went to New York as advertising manager of "Outing." In five years he joined Frank N. Doubleday and Walter Page in the formation of the company.

RUSHVILLE GIRLS
WIN TWO OFFICESMiss Frances Frazee is Elected
Grand President and Miss Alma
Green Grand Secretary.

BY PSI IOTA XI SORORITY

Bloomington Gets 1916 National Convention—to Admit no More High School Girls.Two Rushville girls were given the two most important offices at the annual election late yesterday afternoon of the Psi Iota Xi sorority.Miss Frances Frazee was chosen
grand president and Miss Alma Green was elected grand secretary.The convention also voted not to accept any more high school girls as members. There is a stringent law in Indiana against high school pupils belonging to secret societies and the sorority decided to co-operate with the school officials by making it impossible for high school girls to join.
The convention will close tonight
with a ball at the Social Club. A progressive luncheon was given to-
day at the homes of Miss Alleine
Budd, Miss Louise Manzy and Miss
Ruth Innis, followed by an automobile ride.Other officers elected at the business session yesterday afternoon
were: Miss Mandelin Williamson, of Muncie, vice-president; Miss Alleine
Albough, of Kokomo, treasurer;
Miss Katherine Hook, of Dayton, O.,
conductress; Miss Phyllis White-
head, of Columbus, Ohio, nemesis;
Miss Mary Marr, of Columbus, Ind., inspector.The next national convention of
the sorority will be held at Bloomington, Indiana, it was decided just
before the end of the last session
late yesterday afternoon.In addition to the amendment
passed yesterday afternoon providing that no more high school girls
should be elected members, another
amendment was voted on favorably
which makes it a rule of the sorority
that every member who is attending
high school shall resign by September 1. This changes the standing of Psi Iota Xi so that it can no longer
be termed a high school sorority. It
is said this ruling was made because
several college sororities have decided not to admit girls who are members of high school fraternities.The convention voted to create a scholarship fund. Each chapter will be required to raise its share, the
minimum to be fifteen dollars. Some worthy girl will be selected and will
be offered the privilege of borrowing
money from the fund at a nominal
rate of interest to get a college education, with the additional agreement that she shall pay it back with-
in a given length of time. The girl
thus benefited does not have to be a member of the sorority.Miss Frances Frazee, president of the Rushville chapter, gave the wel-
coming address to the delegates and
visitors, and Miss Mary Marr of Columbus responded on behalf of the visitors, praising the Rushville
chapter for its efforts to make the national convention a notable one.The reports of the chapters were heard. Especially commending itself was the report of the Newcastle
chapter. Last year, their report
showed a total of $1,083 was raised
and spent. The Psi Iota Xi girls
maintained a visiting nurse at Newcastle and are managing the Redpath chautauqua this summer.The sorority flower was changed
from the white carnation to the Mrs.
Aaron Ward rose. Memorials to
three girls who died during the year
were read.

KERN WANTS ON THE BENCH

Indiana Senator is Candidate For a Federal Judgeship.

(By United Press.)

Washington, June 25.—Senator
John W. Kern of Indiana is a candidate for appointment as judge of the federal circuit court of appeals. He
seeks the place left vacant by Judge Grossepont's retirement about two years ago. The fact became known
today through Senator J. Hamilton
Lewis' present in Washington to promote Kern's candidacy.FORGER IS HELD TO GRAND JURYHubert H. Wilson, Who Was Caught
Here, is Bound Over in Con-
nersville on $500 Bond.

CHECK SIGNED BY HANKINS

Hubert H. Wilson, of Muncie, who
was caught here at the Big Four
station by the Connersville police
Wednesday evening on a charge of
forgery, was bound over to the Fayette county grand jury yesterday afternoon under $500 bond.Wilson presented a check for thirty dollars at the Fayette National
bank. The check was signed with
the name of John S. Hankins, former mayor of Connersville. The name
was thought to be a forgery, but as Walter Lambert identified Wilson
the bank paid the money. Wilson
owed Lambert money for a taxicab
bill. Upon investigation the check
was discovered to be a forgery and
the police started out after Wilson.
He took a traction car for Rushville
and the police pursued in an auto.
They arrived at the Big Four station
just in time to catch their man as he was boarding the train.MULE RACE MAY BE STAGED AT THE FAIRSecretary Hopes to Have Representatives of Churches One Day
and Lodges Next Day.

LAWYERS MAY ENTER ALSO

J. Q. Thomas, secretary of the Rush County Fair Association, is ar-
ranging for a mule race at the fair
this year. He plans for the churches,
lodges and lawyers to be entered in
the race. The program is for representatives of the churches to race
one day, representatives of the
lodges another day and the lawyers
another. Then on the last day of
the fair, it is proposed, the winners
in the first three events would contest for the mule championship. The
rules of the contest, if it is staged,
will provide that the mules be driven
and that whips will be allowed.Prospects for the fair are very bright. Every day requests for information are received from concessions. It is generally agreed that
the race program this year will be
the best ever held at the Rush county fair because of the stake races.

FOR RUSHVILLE
END NEXT WEEKChamber of Commerce Committee on Automobile Routes Purposes to Get Recognition.

FOR THE "SCENIC ROUTE"

It is Planned to Mark the Road With Sign Boards and Get it in Automobile Guides.The Chamber of Commerce committee on automobile routes met last
night at the Catholic parsonage with
the Rev. M. W. Lyons and decided to start a campaign to get the route
from Indianapolis to Cincinnati passing through here, and by way of Andersonville and Brookville, recognized by publishers of automobile
route guides.The committee decided to call a meeting for Rushville next Friday,
to which representatives from Brookville and Andersonville, and
other towns between here and Cincinnati, as well as from all towns
between here and Indianapolis, will be invited.It is the purpose of the committee
to mark the route with sign boards
so that tourists, once the road is
placed in the automobile guide books
will have no difficulty in locating the way.The committee is the same as
which was appointed at the Brook-
ville meeting last month to get the Dixie highway through Rushville.
When President S. L. Trabue, of the Chamber of Commerce, appointed
committees for the year, he made it
a standing committee on automobile
routes, believing that, with the constant agitation that is now nation-
wide in its scope, there would often
be something for the consideration
of such a committee. The members
are A. L. Stewart, chairman, R. G.
Budd, the Rev. M. W. Lyons, Theodore Reed and Dr. F. G. Hackleman.One of the purposes of the meeting here next Friday is to learn the
attitude of the people living along
the road to the project, and if it is
favorable, to ask them to pay more
attention to the road and see that it is kept in condition.This is one of the good things that is resulted from the general agitation
to locate automobile routes. It is invariably the rule that renewed interest is taken in good roads because
one of the means whereby automobile routes are won is to guarantee that the road will be kept up.Attention has been called before
to the fact that the standard automobile guides have not given recognition to the route from Indianapolis to Cincinnati which veers off to
the southeast from here and goes
through Brookville and Harrison,
Ohio. The automobile guides show
the route here by way of Conners-
ville. But several miles can be cut
off and the roads are just as good
by taking the scenic route down the Whitewater valley.It is believed that recognition for
the road can be gained if the proper
representations are made to the publishers of the leading automobile
guides. Once the best place the road
in their guide, then the smaller ones
established thoroughfare.Sufficient proof that the valley
route to Cincinnati is the best one
from Indianapolis is found in the
fact that the Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction company, after an
extensive investigation in which engineers took repeated surveys, selected the route by way of this city,
Brookville and Harrison, Ohio, for
the extension of its lines to Cincinnati.

In this connection, it might be

filed suit against Claude Walker on
a note, demanding $1,750 and asking
for a receiver. Kiplinger and Smith

to prevent the plaintiff from getting
the money due on the note. It is
also alleged that he is threatening

DRAFT IS MADEGermany Will Accept Suggestion of President Wilson to Mediate
With British

TO MODIFY THEIR METHODS

Indication That Germany Was Mis-
informed in Contention
Lusitania Was ArmedBY CARL W. ACKERMAN
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)(Copyright 1915 by United Press)
Berlin, (Via The Hague,) June
25.—The preliminary draft of the German reply to the second American note subject to change, I am authoritatively informed contains the following representations:First, that Germany is fighting for the freedom of the seas, but does
not desire in any way to jeopardize
the interest of neutrals.Second, an expression of the appreciation of the friendship existing between Germany and the United States.Third, acceptance of President Wilson's suggestion of a willingness
to mediate between Germany and
Great Britain to obtain a modification of the British blockade in return for the modification of Germany's methods of submarine warfare.Fourth, an indication that Germany probably was misinformed in
her contentions that the Lusitania
was armed.Fifth, an indication that Germany
is willing to negotiate with America
along the lines laid down by President Wilson in his humanity plea
without entirely giving up submarine
war on enemy merchantmen which
many regard as Germany's most effective sea weapon.Sixth, an indication that any compromise to which Germany may
agree regarding belligerent ships
must secure to Germany the safety
of her submarines from their attacks. In this connection the death
of Commander Otto Weddigen and
the crew of the U-29, who are alleged to have lost their lives when
a British tank steamer flying the Swedish flag rammed the submarine,
probably will be cited.The German reply in all probability will be completed by the end of next week.—Mrs. B. Johnson of Richmond
passed through here this morning,
enroute for a visit in Sunman.The Old and the

CALM AFTER THE STORM IS FELT

United States Deputy Marshalls Believe They Have Paid For Rest After Federal Trial.

Six Others to be Arraigned in November on Charges Similar to Those Already Tried

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, June 25.—Following an unusually heavy siege, incident to the trial of the Terre Haute conspirators and other trials, the office of the United States marshal at the Federal building here is comparatively calm once more. "And haven't we paid for this rest in advance?" asked Deputy Marshal Wilson today.

When court convenes for the fall term the first Tuesday in November chief interest will center in two trials, the dates for which probably will be set on that day. These are the trials of Roy Shattuck and his five companions, indicted on charges very similar to those which placed Mayor Roberts and his political co-workers in Leavenworth prison, and the trial of Mike-the-Pike Reitter, the alleged white slaver of Chicago who is charged with having violated the Mann act in regard to placing a foreign-born girl in a Gary bawdy house.

Wilson explained that in case Judge Anderson saw fit these cases might be tried before time for the regular opening of court in November. He said the judge would return from the east the latter part of September of the first of October and could then order the cases tried at any time.

Shattuck was the unsuccessful Republican opponent of Ralph W. Moss for congressman representing the fifth Indiana district. Those indicted with him were Republican candidates for county offices in Vigo.

Heitter with the picturesque name was once overlord of the Chicago red-light district. His operations between Gary and Chicago have been frequent, but he has seldom been arrested. All of the men named are out on bond.

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Unionville, Mo.—"I suffered from a female trouble and I got so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor without holding on to something. I had nervous spells and my fingers would cramp and my face would draw, and I could not speak, nor sleep to do any good, had no appetite, and everyone thought I would not live."

Some one advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had taken so much medicine and my doctor said he could do me no good so I told my husband he might get me a bottle and I would try it. By the time I had taken it I felt better. I continued its use, and now I am well and strong.

"I have always recommended your medicine ever since I was so wonderfully benefited by it and I hope this letter will be the means of saving some other poor woman from suffering."—Mrs. MARTHA SEAVEY, Box 1144, Unionville, Missouri.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as that above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and in strict confidence.

Progressive Luncheon.

The progressive luncheon this afternoon was one of the most enjoyable functions in connection with the convention. The first two courses were served on the lawn at the home of Miss Allene Budd and the third course was served in the home of Miss Louise Mauzy adjoining that of Miss Budd. The interior of the Mauzy home was decorated most appropriately with flowers and the colors of the sorority were carried out in the general scheme.

The program was given at the home of Miss Ruth Innis, adjoining that of Miss Mauzy. Miss Jeanese Sumption of Kokomo, and Miss Madeline Williamson of Muncie sang solos, and Miss Louise Mason of Columbus gave a piano number. Miss Norma Smith and Miss Mary Louise Craige of this city sang a duet and Miss Frances Frazee gave a reading. Miss Jeanet Lindsey of Marion presented a toe dance in gypsy costume. The whole program was immensely appreciated. Miss Innis' home was decorated most tastefully for the occasion.

After the program a convention picture was taken on the lawn of the Innis home. This was followed by an automobile ride about the city.

Banquet Last Night.

The banquet last night at seven-thirty o'clock was served in five courses. It was different from the usual banquet because the toast list was dispensed with and the banquet was entertained with a cabaret during and after the banquet.

Denning Havens and Miss Mary Louise Poe, Kathleen Hogsett and Mary Louise Bliss, accompanied by Miss Martha Hogsett on the piano, gave the program. There were several costume numbers and all of the girls sang solos. Miss Poe and Denning Havens danced. Little Alice Slaughter of Chicago presented two dances, one in a clown costume and another in a maline carnation costume.

The tables were arranged in the dining room of the Social club so that they all faced the opening into the dance hall where the stage stood. It was arranged with yellow and white background and beautiful lighting effects were used by the entertainers. Flowers were used to fine advantage in decorating the dining room.

BLUNDERS ARE ASTONISHING

Lawmakers Floundered Repeatedly in Determining Where Burden of Tax Should.

Washington 25.—A study of the "war revenue tax" discloses some of most astonishing blunders to be found in the entire legislative record of the present administration. The most elementary principles of law making seem to have been disregarded.

In the passage of any special tax measure where the approximate deficit to be met is known, there are four simple requirements that are obvious:

1. It should be determined where the burden of the tax should fall.
2. Based on accurate estimates, the law should produce the amount of revenue needed.
3. The law should be phrased in clear unmistakable terms, admitting of but one construction that will insure a minimum cost of administration, prevent confusion, and avoid unless, expensive litigation.
4. Timely, adequate provision should be made for revenue stamps, blank returns, instructions, and all other numerous details entering into the enforcement of such a law.

This administration failed on every one of these counts.

1. Under the first essential, that of determining where the burden of the tax shall fall, the Democrats floundered repeatedly. They first announced the plan of increasing the income tax, and abandoned it on discovering that financial returns would be delayed for months under that method. Then they turned to a plan of taxing freight receipts. This was discarded with astonishing celerity. Political pressure was too great. After other ineffectual attempts the Spanish war stamp tax was adopted as a basis, giving the country a "war tax" in time of peace.

2. The second essential was disregarded. Their estimates were inaccurate. Had they been based on facts instead of guess work, we would not now have the treasury deficit as a constant reminder of Democratic extravagance and inefficiency.

3. The third essential was disregarded. There are conflicting provisions in the "war tax" as to when it shall take effect. Other clauses are so obscurely phrased that it has been necessary to appeal to the courts for construction.

4. The fourth essential was disregarded. So inadequate were the provisions for stamps required under the act that business all over the country halted because of inability to comply with the law. Long and annoying controversies arose over penalties for such violations, resulting in needless confusion for which no one but the present administration is to blame.

The Secretary of the Treasury is reported as prophesying that the returns from the income tax will considerably exceed the eighty odd millions of dollars estimated for the fiscal year 1915, and he is looking for a marked reduction in the pending treasury deficit by reason thereof. How such a prophecy can consistently be made in the face of the fact that there were 18,280 failures in 1914; that capital invested in new enterprises was less by over $600,000,000 in 1914 than in 1913; that railroad gross earnings declined 4.4 per cent; that steel mills were until very recently reduced to 40 per cent of capacity; that 30 per cent of the looms of our woolen mills were idle December first, and capital amounting to $41,000,000 invested in cotton mills was unproductive, with prices falling off 30 per cent; and that dividends in almost every industry in the land have been either materially reduced, or passed over entirely, it is difficult to understand, unless the substitution of "trained accountants peculiarly fitted to handle the books of corporations subject to the tax" (and possessing such qualifications as do not fit them for civil service) for those unfortunate agents whose great fault was that they "failed to accomplish the desired results only because there was no material from which to get results in the work given them," carries with it an inquisitorial

method of tax collection. Letters from the commissioner of Internal Revenue have been sent to a great many agents asking them to resign that more favorites may take their places. Evidently the Commissioner believes that "by their fruits ye shall know them."

The Parker (Kansas) Message believes that a general business depression still exists in some parts of the country, departmental democratic campaign publicity bureaux to the contrary notwithstanding. The Message reports straggling detachments of the great army of the unemployed in that vicinity, twenty-five or thirty of whom stopped in Parker for a handout recently.

Doubtless they had gotten into touch with the government labor employment bureau, organized by order of President Wilson to find employment for men who had formerly worked in industries closed down by Democratic hard times. This is the bureau that denies that any appreciable amount of unemployment exists at the same time that it seeks to put men in touch with jobs in the furthest corners of the country, "no transportation advanced."

Wilson declined to speak at Philadelphia on the Fourth of July because, he says, "this is perhaps the very time when I would not care to arouse the sentiment of patriotism." It is only a few hours' journey from Washington to Philadelphia, but Wilson would not travel that far "to arouse the sentiment of patriotism," on the Nation's birthday. Yet he jumped all the way to Indianapolis on Jackson Day to arouse the partisan sentiment of Democrats.

After getting into power on a promise to reduce the high cost of living, the Democratic administration finds itself forced to publish statistics it has collected proving that retail prices in 1914 were, on an average, 2 per cent higher than in 1913. Everybody knew that prices were higher and many people will be ready to believe that 2 per cent increase is a low estimate. Even a 2 per cent increase means much to those American workmen who lost their jobs because a Democratic tariff threw our markets open to the products of workmen in Europe and Asia.

TO CALL MEETING FOR RUSHVILLE

mentioned that the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce has received a letter from the manager of the Marion Association of Commerce asking the local organization's cooperation in diverting travel from Cincinnati over a road passing through Knightstown, Anderson, Alexandria, Marion, Wabash, North Manchester, Warsaw, Milford, Goshen and Elkhart, where it would connect with the Lincoln highway, the first stretch of which was dedicated not many days ago. The manager of the Marion association suggests that this road be used to connect the national road at Greensburg with the Lincoln Highway at Elkhart. He has erred in that one respect because the national road does not pass through Greensburg, but through Knightstown. A meeting is to be called at Marion soon. The letter from Marion says that the road from here to Elkhart, which is almost a straight line on the map, is ninety per cent macadam and is good at all seasons of the year.

Railroads doomed the prosperity of the Wabash-Erie canal as steam transportation was more rapid. The state debt became so large and continual repairs had taken so much money that the state was not able to borrow funds for its maintenance.

The canal was put into the hands of the Morris Canal and Banking Company, which completed a branch canal to Evansville, in 1853. This branch was soon abandoned because of the rapid development of railroads. The remainder of the history of canals in Indiana is mostly one of failure, losses and finally abandonment.

Health--How to Preserve It Disease--How to Prevent It

Prepared for the United Press by Dr. J. N. Hurry
State Health Commissioner

Typhoid Fever

To eradicate typhoid fever from the state of Indiana, or any other state, it is only necessary for all of the people all of the time to dispose of all their sewerage in a sanitary way. This is true because typhoid fever comes out of human sewage.

Our refusal to practice sanitary disposal results in the death of 1,000 people annually in Indiana, and cases of typhoid fever in 20,000 others. Of the 20,000 that have the disease and recover, 5,000 will die of consumption. This is because while they are convalescing and weak, their digestion is poor and the air they breathe is bad and they then take on the infection of consumption.

These are sufficient illustrations to show that every man is the architect of his own sickness and disease. But a few more illustrations

may be good. There is a class of diseases which are termed degenerative diseases. They are kidney troubles, heart troubles, hardening of arteries and various kinds and forms of insanity and certain other diseases of the vital organs. The vital statistics show that deaths from arteriosclerosis, the common name of which is hardening of the arteries, are increasing. Cancer is another degenerative disease that is increasing. All of our search has failed to discover the origin of cancer, but the cause or causes which bring hardening of the arteries are pretty well known.

Arteriosclerosis can be prevented by more rational nutrition of the body and rational exercise. This disease is unknown to the peasants of Europe who live upon a simple diet and work in the open air. Cancer is also unknown to the peasant class.

Their first meeting was in 1852 on Lake Winnepesaukee over a two mile course and Harvard won.

Last year's race was one of the most exciting ever held. The two shells shot across the finish line almost at the same fraction of a second. It was minutes before the official winner was known.

The stroke men on this year's crew are declared to be the equal of any who ever represented either school. Harvard is the most fortunate in having a man who has stroked nine winning crews, in little less than a year. Lund last spring set the pace for the crew that defeated the midshipmen, the Yale second crew took two races at the Henley regatta at Philadelphia and three more at the Grand Challenge at Henley in England. He also was stroke the spring when the Crimson crew won from Annapolis and Cornell this spring. Morse, Yale's stroke, is a wonderful athlete and fairly teeming with fight and pluck. He has never negotiated the four mile distance but Yale followers are certain he will turn the trick without any trouble.

The Blue's followers were given a fright a couple of weeks ago when the Yale squad was stricken with ptomaine poisoning at training quarters at Gales Ferry. Coach Guy Nickalls sent a rush order for a platoon of doctors at the first sign of trouble. The physicians arrived promptly and by efficient treatment had the crew restored to good health without the loss of a day's training. True, the athletes' work was cut down for a few days but Nickalls kept them doing just enough to stay "on edge." Nickalls, quick action is credited with saving his crew from a layoff of several days at least. At such a time a layoff would have been fatal to the Blue's chances of winning.

The two crews, as they have been rowing for the past week, and as they probably will face the starter today are as follows:

Yale: Bow, Coe; No. 2, Bennett; No. 3, Lowe; No. 4, Sheldon; No. 5, Captain Sturtevant; No. 6, Meyer; No. 7, Winman; Stroke, Morse; Coxswain, McLean.

Harvard: Bow, Captain Murray; No. 2, Morgan; No. 3, Stebbins; No. 4, Harwood; No. 5, Mittendorf; No. 6, Parson; No. 7, Cabot; Stroke, Lund.

—Mrs. E. C. Muhle of Connersville was here this morning, enroute to attend the funeral of Mrs. Overleese in Milroy.

SERVICE

Of the three essentials—strength, organization and service—afforded to clients of this Bank, SERVICE is not the least important.

The Bank's entire organization is permeated with the spirit of service. It is not enough to accept and safeguard the banking and trust business of clients; every effort is put forth to be of additional active service, within the Bank's proper sphere.

For example, the Bank, if appointed custodian of securities, will as agent sign ownership certificates required by the Federal Income Tax Law, collect dividends and coupons promptly as they mature, and either credit or remit the proceeds to the client; and will promptly notify him should any "rights" or other subscription privileges attach to the securities held.

Another example, clients are welcome to the Bank's facilities for investment and for investigating and analyzing the value of securities.

Many other examples of special service to clients might be mentioned, all of which would help to explain the rapid and substantial growth of this Bank's business.

Why punish your stomach by eating inferior food when the Best is just as economical? Every careful housewife knows that the best in foodstuffs costs no more than the poorer grades for the very same reason that the best has very little or no waste and therefore lasts longer than the inferior article that is sold for a cent or two less. Here are a few of our brands that we guarantee to be of the best and therefore the most economical—Ferdell fruits, vegetables and condiments, The Heinz "57" varieties, Libby's canned meats, Miller and Hart bacon, Swift's dried beef and boiled hams, Bour's coffees and teas, Lippincott's apple butter.

Masonic Grand Lodge of Indiana Will Erect a Fine Structure to Cost
About $200,000.

PLANS ARE ALL COMPLETED

Home Will be For Aged Masons,
Their Wives and Widows and Or-
phans of Members of Order.

Bids will be called for on June 26 for the construction of the Indiana Masonic Home to be erected at Franklin, Ind., under the direction of the Indiana Grand Lodge of Masoury at a cost of approximately $200,000. Herbert Foltz, architect, has announced that he has completed the plans for the home and that work on the six structures of the home will be started as soon as the contracts are awarded.

The home will consist of a main administration building and five smaller structures. The administration building will house the offices and the headquarters of the home and the assembly hall. Separate cottages will be erected as dormitories for boys and girls. The other structures will be a hospital, a service building and a power house. The service building will contain the laundry, the bakery and the cold storage plant.

The buildings will be constructed of brick and stone and will be of the colonial type. The structures will be two stories high with the exception of the service building and the power house. The home will be erected on a 223-acre tract of land on the southern outskirts of Franklin. Sixty acres of the tract are in the corporate limits of the town. According to Calvin W. Prather, secretary of the Indiana Grand Lodge, the home is to be ready for occupancy next spring.

The home is for aged Masons, their wives and widows and orphans of members of the order. Special quarters will be provided for guests of the home who have their wives with them. The members of the building committee of the Indiana Grand Lodge who have directed the plans for the erection of the home are: Dr. Olin E. Holloway of Knightstown, L. D. Cravens of Hammond, James W. Dunbar of New Albany, Thomas J. Lindley of Jeffersonville, Richard Schweitzer of Knightstown, Frank E. Gavin and Calvin W. Prather of Indianapolis.

Richmond Claims Rushville is Weak
on Hitting and Can See Nothing
But a Win.

THEY HAVE SOME SLUGGERS

Admit However That Earl Hewitt
May Cause Them Some Worry
—Leake Pitching.

The Richmond team of the Indiana State league is fully expecting to win over the Rushers in the game here Sunday. They have several ways of figuring just how and why they should win. One of these reasons is that the Richmond team is the best hitting team in the league and the Rushers the weakest. It is true the Rushville team is not hitting the ball but the team is expected to begin connecting pretty soon.

At Rushville Sunday, Richmond plans to win, although going against Pitcher Hewitt, the Rushers' star moundman. The hitting strength of the Richmond club is the best in the Indiana State League. This much, Hewitt will have against him. And that much Al Leake will have in his favor. More than this, the Rushville club is the weakest hitting club in the league which is that much more in Al's favor.

McCann, Hampton, Popkins, Schrimper, Cushing, Bulla, Wallace, are pretty fair stick wielders. The official averages of the players when published will show that these are the boys that are keeping the Richmond club at the top of the hitters. Tough luck, errors and breaks for the visitors have been losing games for the Quakers. And the Rushers get to take them on at a mighty disastrous time,—for the Rushers.

Things are liable to happen at the Rush county seat Sunday. It may be that Luke Snyder will find his batting eye at Edgewater park. He certainly is due and it is a cinch he will find it some day—soon. With Luke hitting, Curley in the lineup at third, Dony Fisher or Schrimper in the outfield with Wallace and Bulla, those base hits are liable to shower around Mr. Hewitt Sunday until he will be unable to "hew-out."

And the breaks of the game are bound to come favorable for the Quakers sometime soon too and then they will begin to make some showing. No alibi is intended for the two games on the other column to balance with those two in the lost column and Sunday's game at Rushville is the first one that is to be switched over into the won column.

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. Hats Will Not Cover Multitude of Sins In Hair Dressing Now

BY MARGARET MASON

There's nothing secretive in Fashion That's really quite plain to be seen. She now is so very transparent. She's even exposing her bean. In hats that are made of illusion. For frocks of the same she is keen. In lingerie blouses and mantles. All made of illusion she's seen. And so in paradox manner. Results of all chance are here, because she's so wrapped in illusion. No illusions about her are left.

New York, June 25.—Hats won't cover a multitude of sins in the hair-dressing line anymore. You've got to have a good "do" on your hair nowadays because the very smartest chapeaux can easily be seen through. There are two popular forms of the transparent hats—the one a simple straight flat brim composed of two layers of maline stretched smoothly over the wire frame—the other has the brim composed of a wide floppy ruffle of maline, double thickness, with occasional wires radiating from the crown to keep the ruffle from going altogether.

While transparent crowns of the same maline are very good, the latest effect is to have a velvet crown in the midst of the gauzy brim. The open face hats are most stunning in all black with a single yellow or pink rose as the only adornment but all white hats or delicate pinks and blues are also most fetching with sheer summer frocks and most summer frocks are all that let me tell you.

Organdie so thin and exquisite of weave and texture that Queen Mab herself might well be pleased to don it is the material de lux for summer frocks and blouses. In all delicate tints, either plain or strewn with Pompadour garlands it is the quintessence of feminine loveliness. The all white organdie is ideal for lingerie gowns and blouses particularly as by a new triumph of the weavers art it now washes like a dream and rises as beautiful and supreme from the wash as Venus from the wave.

cuffs, the many quaint fichus and kerchiefs that now adorn the Victoriano toilettes organdie has no adequate rival. It has only one defect it is so very sheer that it leaves absolutely nothing to the imagination. This is a defect, however, that pertains to but certain cases.

Indeed the admonition to "keep your shirt on" might easily be offered by a short sighted person to a organdied bloused lady. The more natural conjecture would doubtless be, however, that she didn't have any on to keep. These organdie blouses doubtless rely on their revealing powers for sufficient charm for they almost altogether eschew lace or other embellishment and save for a few tiny hand tuks or embroidery are strictly plain and tailor made.

There's nothing peek-a-boo about these 1915 models rather should they be dubbed the long-and-linger-ing-look waists.

Of course, stockings have to put their foot in it and get in the non-concealing class also by dropping a stitch or two in the most nonchalant manner with open work clocks and open work strips and other open work motifs too numerous to enumerate. As it is only natural for stockings to go to extremes since that's what they are made for their swift transition from these open work gauze effects for dress and dance occasions to cashmere and all wool creations for sport wear is not to be wondered at. Rather than wear woolen hosiery my lady Dainty yesterday would rather have suffered a thousand ills but today she flaunts them in the face of the multitude on the links, the tennis court or at the steering wheel. They come in all the bright plain colors or white and colored stripes and checks. The black and white pin check models are perhaps the most popular to match up the many coats and suits of shepherds plaid.

Can it be that she will jump as nimbly from her chiffon chemise into woolen lingerie?

CAMPAIGN FOR SUMMER WORK

New Department of State Board of Health Will Make Special Study of Tuberculosis.

A COMPREHENSIVE REPORT Data Supplied by Local Health Officers Will be Compiled and Studied With Care.

The new department of the state board of health, which is to make a special study of tuberculosis, has mapped out a comprehensive campaign of summer work. A new blank to be used by physicians and others in reporting cases of tuberculosis to their local health officers is being prepared and will shortly be distributed over the state. Under the direction of the new department, an analysis is being made of the tuberculosis death returns for 1915 from every Indiana county. A report of this analysis will be supplied to the local health officers and the anti-tuberculosis society in each county.

When completed, the report will show how many children in each county died from consumption, how many wage earners, the form of tuberculosis most prevalent in each county, and many other vital facts which must be thoroughly understood before effective work against the "white plague" can be undertaken. Special literature on tuberculosis will then be prepared and sent by the state health board to the homes which have been invaded by tuberculosis. This special literature will point out the way in which future cases of tuberculosis may be prevented.

Crawford county Indiana, long recognized as having the highest death rate from tuberculosis of any county in the state, is to be made the subject of special study by the new tuberculosis department of the state board of health.

Records of deaths in that county for the past six years show that of the 841 death from all causes, 202, or practically twenty-five per cent, were caused by tuberculosis.

In view of the fact that the average for the United States is ten per cent, and for the state is eleven and one-half percent, the abnormal percentage that prevails in Crawford county must indicate some unusual condition or combination of circumstances, W. D. Thurber, the chief of the new department believes.

The co-operation of the Crawford County Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, and the county and town health officers is already promised the department and public spirited citizens throughout the county will be asked to assist in the investigation.

CAR COMPANY HEAD KNOCKS JITNEYS

Declares They Use The Pavement Put in by Railroad Company And Then Bucks Them

MAYOR WANTS NEW ROUTES

(By United Press.)
Evansville, Ind., June 25.—"Jitneys will run on the pavement we lay." So said Manager Blinn of the street car company when asked by Mayor Bosse to improve Fulton avenue.

"Why don't the jitneys make new routes where there are no car lines instead of stealing the street car company's business," the mayor said today.

"After I get the street car company to improve its service the jitneys come along and take their business."

"I had hoped that the jitneys would establish schedules on routes where there are no cars and thereby do a real public service."

BELGIANS MAKE SERIOUS CHARGE

Given Most Revolting Tasks to Perform and Often Are Brutally Assaulted, They Say.

BY WILBUR S. FORREST.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

London, June 11: (By Mail to New York)—That the German authorities have hoodwinked the various neutral commissions that have made generally favorable reports on the treatment and feeding of prisoners of war in Germany is charged by three Belgian non-commissioned officers who recently escaped from the prison camp of Bergenhus.

Questioned singly and then together by the Belgian minister at Copenhagen, their stories, which have been forwarded to the Belgian legation in London, coincided. All agreed that conditions in the larger prison camps, such as Parclem, where they were first confined, are considerably better than those in the smaller camps, the former being under the command of superior officers. Though the rules in the larger camps are severe, they are applied with more or less equality and there is not so much arbitrary infliction or excessive toil or ill-treatment, such as prevail in the camps like Bergenhus which are under the command of sub-officers of the reserves or territorials, who run them according to their own whims and without the necessity of reporting their own violations of the rules.

"In these camps English and Russian prisoners are treated incomparably worse than the French and Belgians," said the escaped Belgians. "They are given the most revolting tasks to perform and often brutally assaulted. Parcels for all prisoners are opened, delayed, and pilfered, in spite of the rule that they should be opened in the presence of the recipients. The medical service is lamentably insufficient, prisoners not even being examined until after they have been ill for many days. Even then no rest from work is allowed except in grave cases. The only reply to complaints is, 'You didn't come here to be ill or to rest, but to work! The prisoners have to pay for medicines themselves, and the lot of those unable to do so is frightful.'

"Both the quantity and the quality of food have been lowered in the past three months. At Bergenhus the rations were: Morning—bowl of a brew called coffee and a morsel of black bread three inches square and one and a half thick. This bread, a less than 200 grammes, has to last all day; Midday—soup, made of water, mostly quite inedible, and some beetroot; Evening—beetroot only. Vegetables, preserves and especially meat are only distributed in special circumstances and in infinitesimal portions. Rarely, some bones from the meat used at the table of the guard are dipped in the prisoners' soup. The waste from the German troops' kitchen is sold on contract to feed the pigs of the countryside. The Belgians at Bergenhus one day complained of the soup, whereupon the commandant replied 'I know this soup is not fit to give to pigs—but you'll eat it all the same.'

"Commissions of the Red Cross and the neutral states have expressed themselves as being generally satisfied with the nourishment of the prisoners because they have been completely hoodwinked. For instance, when the Swedish mission visited Gustrow they were shown the kitchens where the meals were being prepared, not for the prisoners as they believed, but for the guards. At the canteens the prices charged prisoners are far beyond market prices, while the non-commissioned officers of the German guard pay nothing."

"Only a strong constitution can enable a man to emerge with his health from one of these camps. Some Belgians have already died of hunger."

Genuine Prescription For All Rheumatism

One That Does Cure or Money Back, Says Johnson's Drug Store.

Rheuma—that is the name of the scientific prescription that is putting old rheumatism out of business.

Rheuma comes by driving the uric acid from the blood. It also acts directly on the kidneys and is better for them than most so-called kidney cures.

Porter Smith, Dohbin, W. Va., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from rheumatism for about 26 years. The disease had become chronic. I began taking Rheuma with little faith in its virtues, but was better from the first day I began its use, and at this time have no more pains."

Johnson's Drug Store and all druggists sell Rheuma, and no rheumatic sufferer can afford not to use it. 50 cents a bottle. Your money back if not satisfied.

Home Problem Methods of Teaching Agriculture and Home Economics Much in Evidence.

Many Specialists in Both Lines Speak to Large Gathering of School Teachers.

The two days' conference of workers in agriculture and home economics education for superintendents, teachers and supervisors, opened at Purdue University Thursday. The second annual meeting of the Indiana Agricultural Teachers' Association will be held in connection with the conference.

The central theme "Home Problem Methods of Teaching Agriculture and Home Economics" was much in evidence throughout the entire conference. Prof. George L. Roberts, dean of the University summer school, gave the address of welcome. He explained the purpose of the conference and the good that would come by bringing agricultural and home economics workers together each year. He pointed out that one feature that will make for the success of such a conference is the addresses by outside speakers.

Prof. Z. M. Smith, supervisor of agriculture in Indiana, addressed the conference on "Pre-Vocational and Vocational Agriculture." He explained the state law and defined pre-vocational and vocational work. Every teacher must teach pre-vocational agriculture in the schools of the state. Prof. Smith compared the vocational law of Indiana with the New Jersey, New York and Massachusetts. Indiana has 8,000 teachers who are engaged in teaching pre-vocational agriculture and of the remaining 7000, over 1000 are doing work in consolidated township schools, the rest are working in the one-room school house. Prof. Smith urged that every child in the state complete the public school work. The state report of Indiana shows that thousands of children are taking pre-vocational work and 141 are taking vocational courses. Vocational work is taught in special schools that are set up for specific work.

Prof. W. H. French, of the agricultural education department, Michigan Agricultural College, addressed the conference on "Community Work in Agriculture Through the Public Schools." Michigan has 7000 one-room schools in the state. There is no state vocational law in Michigan as in Indiana, but have state normal training schools that are worked on the same basis. Next year Michigan expects to have 100 high schools that will give pre-vocational work, mostly nature study, and home and rural betterment. If we are to maintain our American standard of education we must give our children the broadest education possible. The purpose of the school should fix the American standards. Practical work and practical education are the keynote of success.

Pres. W. E. Stone, of Purdue University opened the afternoon session with a short address on "Vocational Education—Its Meaning and Its Purpose." He said that there are about eighteen schools in the state that are giving direct vocational work. He pointed out that the vocational system should not be considered as a substitute for the regular educational system of the state, but should help to keep those boys and girls in school that otherwise would not attend the public school after a certain age.

"Home Economics Problems in the Schools," was discussed by Mrs. Henrietta W. Calvin, home economics specialist, U. S. department of education. Mrs. Calvin was formerly on the faculty of Purdue University. She presented four problems that should receive due consideration, namely: first, How to teach home economics; second, when should it be taught; third, to whom should it be taught and fourth, the teacher. In the sixth, seventh and eighth grade, the girl should have reached a stage where she could manage the home economics work with ease. The ideal way to teach home economics is in the home.

Miss Grace King, head of the home economics department of Hanover College, spoke on "Work of County Supervisors of Home Economics work in St. Joseph county, and in her talk she gave some very interesting details of her work in this county. Miss Lella R. Gaddis, of the home economics department of Purdue University, talked on "Home Economics Work in the Schools of Indiana." Miss Gaddis has been doing work in the schools for the past year and has been helping to direct the work. Indiana schools have well organized home economics work and the school girls are receiving great benefits from the courses offered.

"Beautifying the Country Side," was the subject presented by C. B. Durham, horticultural division of the extension department, at the evening session. This was an illustrated lecture. Many views showing good and bad work in country, were flashed on the screen. Too many attempts at country beautification have proved a failure, and Dr. Durham pointed out the remedies.

The feature of the evening session was the address on "Club and Home Project Work," by Prof. G. I. Christie, superintendent of agricultural extension. This type of educational work has been placed on a firm foundation in the state and the girls and boys take great pride in their accomplishments. Boys are corn clubs, pig clubs, potato clubs, girls tomato clubs, canning clubs and sewing clubs can be found in all sections of the state, all which make a bigger and better Agriculture for Indiana.

Orville Hodson, Convicted Check Forger, Making Good Behind Prison Walls at Jeffersonville

Separated From Dope And Cigarettes His Hands Are Steady And His Health Better

Jeffersonville, Ind., June 25.—With a hand trained to forge checks Orville Hodson is making an excellent bookkeeper in the tailoring department of the state reformatory here. His books are neat and his work is exact and painstaking.

Having been separated from his dope and cigarettes Hodson's hands are steady which makes for neatness. His skin smoother and his health better. All-in-all, the state reformatory is doing a real job of reforming in the case of this youthful prodigy who had all the officers in the state stepping sideways trying to catch him for three years.

Hodson's mind is clearer, too, and the strange fits of jealousy that used to seize him are less frequent. But for the uniform it would be hard to detect that Orville is one of the 1241 inmates. He would never be taken for a criminal.

Authorities here have different theories concerning this change in the boy of 22. Some say it is because he cannot get his dope while others place all the credit to the spirit within the state institution. One thing is agreed, it is a good indication that Hodson is clinging to his resolve to leave the reformatory at the earliest opportunity, and it is good indication that he intends to rejoin his wife and live an upright life. Hodson was sent here from the Clinton county court. He had forged several checks for large amounts and in seeking to escape capture had travelled from coast to coast and into Mexico. He was captured in Pittsburg after a gunfight. He had robbed a druggist, his employer.

U. S. IS ASSURED TRADE JUSTICE

British Note Tells of Efforts to Lessen Inconvenience to Commerce of Neutrals.

Washington, June 25.—Great Britain, in a memorandum transmitted to the United States and made public here and in London, recites at length its efforts to minimize inconvenience to neutral commerce resulting from the order in council against trade with Germany, Austria and Turkey, and asserts that American citizens have no just grounds for complaint on account of the treatment accorded their cargoes.

No attempt is made to answer the principles asserted in the American note of March 1 protesting against the orders in council and insisting upon the right of neutrals to carry on legitimate commerce with each other and to trade in noncontraband with civilians in belligerent countries. In transmitting the memorandum, Ambassador Page said it was "merely an explanation of concrete cases and the regulations under which they are dealt with."

Another note to Great Britain is now in course of preparation at the State Department and is expected to be dispatched as soon as the negotiations with Germany over submarine warfare have been cleared up. While this communication probably will make reference to the latest memorandum, it is understood that the manner of enforcing the orders in council will not be treated as relevant to the question at issue—whether there is any warrant in international law for the powers that Great Britain and its allies have assumed to exercise over the commerce of the world.

In its memorandum the Foreign Office emphasizes the "various special concessions made in favor of United States citizens" in setting forth that all British officials have acted in every case "with the utmost dispatch consistent with the object in view, and of showing in every case such consideration for neutrals as might be compatible with the object, namely, to prevent vessels from carrying goods for or coming from the enemy's territory."

Arrangements for buying American cotton detained and for permitting the passage of goods bought in Germany by Americans before the date of the order in council are outlined and the promise made that consideration will be given to special cases of this kind in the future.

According to a summary of ships detained there are now twenty-seven vessels which cleared from the United States now held in ports of the United Kingdom. Of these eight are said to be unloading cotton which Great Britain has agreed to purchase, seven will be allowed to depart as soon as items of their cargoes placed in a prize court have been discharged and the other twelve—three of them American ships—are the subject of investigations not yet completed.

EARLY HISTORY IN 5 VOLUMES

Historical Commission Has Work Nearly Completed—Getting Ready For Celebration

(By United Press.)
Indianapolis, June 25.—Five publications of rare historical and documentary value regarding Indiana's early history are to be edited and soon will be circulated by the Indiana Historical Commission. At a recent meeting of the commission it was found that at this early date the commission had enough material to set the wheels going which will end in the celebration of Indiana's centennial next year.

The governor's messages before the present constitution adopted in 1853 will be published as the first of the series.

"Constitution Making in Indiana," will detail the work of the framers of Indiana's organic law. Many reminiscences and interesting stories concerning the early constitutional days will be a part of the book.

"Indiana as Portrayed by Early Travelers," will be a collection of incidents and appreciation of those who came to Indiana in the early days. New Harmony, Vincennes, and Salem were the communities most often touched by travelers on their way to the West.

"Party Platforms before 1850," the material for which is being compiled by the Indiana Department of History and Archives, in the fourth of the publications to be issued.

"Indian Treaties and Land Grants" will be an interesting work which will consider the events during the Indian occupation of the state and accounts of treaties made by the early settlers to the redskins.

These books will be placed on the market at a nominal price.

To co-operate with the commission fourteen advisory committee chairmen were selected. Those chosen were: Educational—Miss Charity Dye, Indianapolis; Music, E. D. Birge, Indianapolis; Art and Architecture—Mrs. M. F. Johnson, Richmond; Medicine, Dr. G. W. H. Kemper, Muncie; Public Health and Hygiene, Dr. J. N. Hart, Indianapolis; Agriculture, Prof. G. I.
